Oh, the glorious days of summer. Long lazy days at the beach, trips out to Pleasure Island, hanging out at the rec room and some even hung out at places of employment, yes, they worked. Some of us rented beach cabins from crooked salesmen, while others hung out on the Nederland drag. We were free, no one to bother us and no one for us to bother. It was the perfect time for innocent and not-so-innocent fun, until the Port Arthur News broke the bad news, "School registration starts next week," yes, the party was over.

Registration was a real drag for most veteran seniors. Says Seniors Tim Romero, "I got up at 5 a.m. for what, an I.D. and a car decal sticker, and I don't even own a car."

Though seniors were bored stiff after hearing the same speech for 3 and even 4 years the story was quite different for the new freshmen! The day of the freshmen and sophomore registration a huge hurricane hit, so they had to register on the first day of school. "It was funny," says Senior Cheryl Arnaud who was taking I.D.'s, instead of being in the annual in tank tops, and summer outfits, here they were in their little 'first-day-of-school' clothes."

Day one was a huge mess. The over crowding problem was really bad. With a lot more frosh than expected, and the Bishop Byrne students we acquired, having 35 to 40 students in one class became a real fact. Not only were the freshmen lost, but a few sophs, jrs, and srs., as well.

Well, we got through it, we hung it out the first couple of weeks and with football season starting up, it would soon be time for late parking lot parties, hot chocolate on cold nights, and before long it would be time to head out to the beach and hang out on the drag on a warm summer day. Yes, the party has just begun.

Hey Gang,

The party has begun for everyone

"Hey everybody, my parents are going out of town this weekend, and I'm having a party."

This is a phrase often heard during transition in the halls. Most parties are held when the parents are out-of-town.

Once the word is out that your family is out of town, or that you are thinking of having a party, there are people 10 feet deep waiting for your door to open. The famous last words of parents as they leave are "Be sure not to have a party." But the first instinct is "Party Time."

Parties usually start out small, but often it seems as though everybody in PA makes an appearance. The concept of "invitation only" becomes virtually nonexistent.

Becky Shockley stated "When I have a party there's always several people who end up crashing. Some you don't mind as much because they're not there to cause trouble. But it's the ones that just come for the refreshments really bother me."

For parties that are invitation only it is difficult to invite everyone without someone feeling left out. Sometimes the people who are left out show up anyway and join the fun, often unnoticed.

The parties often continue in all hours of the night. Sometimes fights break out among people from different schools. This usually happens when everyone gets bored. So to have a good party, be sure to have plenty of food, and things to do.

During the year there were a few parking lot parties but they always seem to get broken up, because there are always troublemakers in the bunch.

At some parties, games are played. Often they are made up as the night goes on. A few of these games include quarters, Indian, Famous names, Poker, etc.

At the end of the year, many seniors get together and rent halls and have music played to celebrate graduation.

Sometimes waking up the next day is the worst part because you never know what or who you will find around the house in the morning. For the person throwing the party it means the next da is clean up day because broken bottle and other debris usually cover the block Sometimes things can get a little out c hand, such as phones getting broken, no to mention torn shower curtains.

"Trying to find the phone is ba enough but you discover you don't hav a floor, it's the pits." says Senior Chery Arnaud.

The problem of neighbors calling an complaining is a problem most party per sons have to deal with. This also leads u to the problem of the parents finding ou from the neighbors.

"It's bad when your mystery neighbo of 10 years decides to become you parents' best friend just to rat on you." states Junior, David Ray.

Sometimes punishment is a lot mor harsh than anticipated. Just being i suspense of what your parents are goin to do is punishment enough. Too ba your parents don't think that way.

Homecoming is Jackets' jackpot

by Tuesday Hayes

The most exciting week during football season is Homecoming week. This year the DECA organization sponsored the week's activities. Homecoming week began on Monday, September 27, with M.A.S.H. day. It was followed on Tuesday by Almost Anything Goes day. On Wednesday all your wildest dreams came true, because it was Fairy Tale day. Thursday transported everyone back to Roman civilization. It was Toga day, and many different colored togas were worn. The week was concluded on Friday with Most Maroon and Gold day.

The DECA organization also held other activities during the week. An imaginary treasure hunt was held with clues being given each day. The treasure was found by Mr. Worthy. The homecoming queen, Renee Hawkins, was target for the dunking booth.

For Homecoming 83' we decided, with the help of Mrs. Moore, Mr. White, and Mrs. Henderson to take a new turn.

The week before homecoming, the student body voted for the court. During the Vidor pep rally the girls were announced. Mr. Kindell came on the microphone and began with the two finalists which were Shelly Norris and Gina Guidry. Then the two princesses were announced as Kim Hauck and Kim Howell. The Queen for 1983 was Reneé Hawkins.

During Homecoming week Reneé received corsages for every day of the week. Then on Wednesday the whole court was invited to have lunch with Mr. Rothenberger.

At the city-wide pep-rally all five girls were recognized in the middle of the gym. Although we didn't have a parade, the city-wide pep-rally went over well.

First we beat Nederland 34-0, then 8 guys were at the hospital being x-rayed, and finally the Homecoming dance was a complete success.

Renee Hawkins

Queen for a day

by Greg Gunner

Renee Hawkins, 1983-1984 Homecoming Queen found it a hard job as reigning queen. "Starting the week of the homecoming activities was very hectic. I found myself going to sleep after midnight trying to finish my homework." "My days at school were no less busy, being presented with flowers from different clubs each day saw to that. Also as a D.E. student I was obligated to participate in the annual dunking booth where I was the dunkee. Imagine the newly elected queen being dunked by her voters. It was something to remember. Accomplishing my homework wasn't the least of my problems. As a Swingster I had to practice after school, sometimes until dark. Also, though I work for my father half the day, I found it hard to make it to work sometimes. I do not regret the time that I contributed to being named "Queen" and would do it a million times over if given the chance."

Cav-Oil-cade goes Texas

by Kim Howell

The 52 Cavoilcade princesses prepared for the October activities. "Getting things together is just about the hardest part," says Cheryl Arnaud. To kick off Caviolcade, all the girls get together with their mothers for a tea at Rose Hill Manor. The princesses' pictures were also on display at the Allied Merchants Bank by Frank Cricchio.

During school it was sometimes hard to keep up with your homework and participate in rehearsal which lasted till 10 p.m.

The coronation stage was set for October 20, with giant bright stars. It was now time for former queen Paige Lawson to give up her crown. The Master of Ceremonies named Miss Congeniality — Mary Ann Goudeaux which was chosen by all the girls. The Lady in Waiting, which was picked from the out of Town Duchess, was Cyndi Reynolds from Port Neches. The 4 finalists were named Donna Domingue, Renee Hawkins, Mary Beth Draugh, Suleika Gonzalez. The second runner up was Risa Rising, first runner up was Cassie Throgmorten. Now the time everyone waited for was here, the New 1983 Cavoilcade Queen was Tina DeLeon. Tina took her first formal walk across the stage after being crowned.

The girls then left the Civic Center to attend a party at the Boham's house. Pictures were taken as everyone socialized around. Many of the princesses then after the Boham's went on to other parties, not realizing they had school the next day.

Saturday everyone was up bright and early to attend the parade. With cars and princess fixed up under the Texas style theme. After the parade the cars drifted to the Seawell for a lunch given by the department club.

Saturday night everyone went to the Civic Center to see Roger V. Everyone danced and laughed as Roger V. entertained all. Since this was the last formal event of Cavoilcade everyone made the best of it.

Sunday night the fireworks display went off with a bang to end the 1983 Cavoilcade celebration. This was a weekend to be remembered by all.

T.J. students sing:

"The Demin-Jean Blues"

by Donna Domingue

Pleated, straight-leg, boot cut, over-dyed, pre-wash, button-ups, etc. No these aren't just a part of a seamstress' terminology, they're portions of a favorite T.J. pastime: jeans.

Whether Calvin Klein's or Levi-Straus, jeans are seen throughout corridors and on stairs here at Thomas Jefferson. They come in all shapes and sizes, colors and styles, and to some people putting on a favorite pair of jeans is like putting on a best friend.

"My faded Levi's are the most comfortable jeans I have," stated Sr. Theresa Diaz, "I just throw on a shirt and tennis shoes and I'm ready."

Because jeans come in so many styles, it's easy to be either dressy or comfortable. Some dressy jeans like Jordach or Sergio Valente can easily be put with heels as Levi's are put with T-shirts and thongs.

Sophomore Amie Naughton gave a good idea for buying her favorite jeans, "I go to Beall's when they're on sale right before school starts and stock up on button-ups, and hey, I'm set for until May."

Though some students do dress up a lot or at least once or twice a week, usually you'll see them in jeans on a slow Monday or dragged-out Friday. One things for sure, Thomas Jefferson does fit the description of the "Jean Scene."

Senioritis: We've caught it

by Trudy DeRouen

Many seniors have different views about being "top dog." When asked "How does it feel to be a Senior?" Abraham Munoz replied, "It's a nice feeling knowing this is your last year in High School, but you still have to keep up your grade and think about college."

As the 1984 school year comes to a close, the seniors are now feeling the farewell pains of their Alma Mater. Friends will part and go their separate ways, and all that will be left is the memories of the class of 1984.

The first feeling of "Senioritis" is ordering rings during your junior year. This is the first step in becoming "top dog."

At the end of the school year seniors finish school two or three days before the underclassmen. During the Pep Rallies when "The Eyes" is played, all seniors are asked to stand and sing, while juniors etc. sit and watch in anticipation for next year.

In addition to this, seniors have at least four extra dances to attend. This includes Aqua Ball, Crystal Ball, Black and White, and Senior Prom.

Bug hits T.J.

Students stuck at home

by Jimmie Nixdorf

Since Monday, Jan. 16, a wave of flu and 24-hour viruses has hit TJ. Approximately four-hundred students a day have been absent from school with an excuse plus many others who have been unexcused. According to Ms. Wolfe, school nurse, at least 20 students per day have been sent home.

"I came to school sick because it's hard to make up all that work," said Jr. Tuesday Hayes who had been suffering from the flu.

"Being home sick with the flu wasn't fun at all," commented Senior Howard Provost. "It's boring sitting at home watching TV. I'd rather be bored with my friends at school."

According to Mrs. Leon, attendance secretary, the number of excused absences increased everyday by 10 or 20 students. She and Ms. Wolfe say that they're unable to make a prediction on when the epidemic would come to an end because of many factors of the illnesses, such as contagiousness.

One problem for the school district is that both it and its employees lose money for each student who's absent. The PAISD has $1,100 per student that attends for 175 days. For every day a student is absent, the district loses $6.30.

Another problem would be that if the number of students absent reached a certain level, school would have to be closed down until a more favorable number of students are over the illness.

"The days that school would be closed down would have to be made up for," explained Mr. Kindell, "But the superintendent would only close down the school if he felt that an epidemic was present."

According to Mrs. Leon, the number of absences due to this epidemic began clearing up around Feb. 10.

Juniors spring into action

by Tuesday Hayes

Spring is just around the corner and for many students this means the beginning of fun. Some students begin looking for summer jobs, while others begin shopping for the new spring fashions. For most students, though, it is time for going to the beach, going swimming in the pool, and just hanging out. When asked what he planned to do for the spring and summer, Jay Jordan, junior said, "I usually go skateboarding and go to the beach." On the other hand, Yolanda Lee, Junior Class Secretary, replied, "I'm going to run for Student Body Vice-President, plan for the Junior prom, and start looking for a job. I'm also going to struggle to keep my grades up."

Although the majority of the students are planning just for the upcoming events, some are planning for next school year. Ysuia Allen, junior, said, "I'll be planning to go to summer school to take all of my elective courses, which is something I should have done a long time ago."

Most of the students are looking forward to the Junior prom which will be held on April 14 in the cafeteria. The theme is "Where Dreams Come True, Fantasies Are Real." The Junior class has devoted many hours of time and effort to make the prom a success, and it most likely will be.

Sophomore

Hard classes to handle

Sophs sweat class load

"All right! I'm not going to be a freshman anymore" is the familiar cry of freshmen at the end of the school year. When they do become sophomores, however, they usually find a very difficult year lies ahead of them.

The year with some of the most difficult classes yet, the one most always forgotten is the sophomore year. Sophomores are not the "little" Freshmen or the "BIG" Seniors or even Juniors who will be seniors next year. They are just caught in the middle of the ladder which leads to graduation. There is no prom for them or really any activity just for them.

Not only is the Sophomore year boring, but classes most sophomores take are really difficult.

"I find Biology I and English my most difficult subjects. I feel that this year has been my hardest. My grades this year have been my worst." says Wanda Jones, sophomore.

"I like Biology I, but sometimes the work piles up a little too high," said Sophomore Sara Thibault.

World History is another class many students dread.

"World history is difficult because you have to memorize all kinds of dates and important people," stated Doug Sanford, sophomore.

Difficult classes are not the only hardship sophomores must go through. Often, other students and teachers still tend to regard them as freshmen.

"Being a sophomore is not what it is cut out to be. No matter how hard you try, everybody still treats you like a freshman," commented Angie Musgrove, sophomore.

Some Juniors look back on their sophomore year and have some comments on it.

"I think it was my hardest year. Even harder than this year. Biology really made it hard. Actually, it was a very boring year," said Junior Annie Espinoza.

Help: no car, need ride

by Pam Chirafis

"Can you give me a ride?" is probably the most common sentence in the sophomore vocabulary. Being fifteen is a definite bummer. Most cannot get a hardship license because the Public Safety Commission has tightened up issuing them and for the most part, parents will not let them drive.

So, how do sophomores get around? One answer is getting a parent to drive a group of people somewhere. But who really wants to have his parents drive them around?

"When I had to ride with my parents somewhere, I would crouch down in the seat so no one could see me," recalled one junior.

Sophomores also find other solutions to their dilemma.

"I think getting involved in some type of organization helps. By doing this I found how to make friends who will help me out of the chauffeuring bind," stated Becky Sherman, sophomore.

"We used to pile about twenty girls into my station wagon every weekend to go to putt-putt," remembers Bonnie Tweedle, junior, who was one of the only car-poolers at the time.

Much emphasis has been placed on the driving teenagers. This has forced students to make the best out of not driving. Walking, bicycling, skateboarding or busing are popular among students and are far from embarrassing.

For the most part, sophomores can make what seems a big problem minor if they can get over the fear of being driven around. So, when a car full of people with feet sticking out of the windows, it is almost certain to be a group of sophomores.

The Beachcombers

As the new school year began, most students were worried with getting school supplies; but there was a group of students who had other things on their minds. The Biology II classes were planning to collect sea creatures for their aquarium.

The first step was to start getting water. The aquarium had to be in the right condition for the marine animals to survive. So, where else would the water have to come from than the beach?

The Biology II classes loaded up on a school bus and went to the beach. "Each student was responsible for collecting water in a plastic gallon container," said Mrs. Williams, the Biology instructor. Most people would think that as soon as the water is in the aquarium, then in go the animals. This concept is absolutely wrong. According to Mrs. Williams, it takes several weeks for the aquarium to condition. When it was time for the animals to be put in, it was already October 8.

The students collected a variety of sea creatures. They collected hermit crabs, sand crabs, shrimp, line barnacles, sheephead minnows, silversides, mosquito fish, one stargazer and a fat sleeper fish. This was a well rounded collection, but a problem arose. The students and Mrs. Williams discovered that the hermit crabs were eating the fish. So, it would be up to the fish to survive.

When asked if she would like to do it all over again, Mrs. Williams replied, "Yes, I think I will take the classes to the beach every year to collect marine animals, and maybe even the Biology I classes too. The students really enjoyed it."

So, the next time you are in the Biology hall, stop and look at the aquarium. It is an interesting sight.

Confusion causes crowding

by Donna Paul

This year has been hectic with the extra student load. TJ had problems with more Freshmen than expected, broken air conditioners, and crowded classrooms. The loss of faculty members aggravated the situation and caused some classes to swell to more than 40 students.

Within the school, eleven teaching and one administrative positions were left vacant. Nearly every department was affected. The greatest number of vacancies occurred in the English department with two less teachers.

Mr. Carlin transferred to Jefferson to fill a drama vacancy.

Transferred back to Jefferson is Ms. Princelette Carlin.

Also transferred from Woodrow Wilson Middle School, where he was teaching Social Studies was Dr. Charles Chesson.

Even with the last two new additions to the faculty many classes were still overcrowded. Mr. Rothenberger decided to dissolve certain classes with small enrollments to leave those teachers open to carry other classes. Two of the many classes dissolved were Mr. Palmer's metal-working and Mr. Carlin's Speech class.

Mr. Carlin added another English class. Ms. Coleman left three of her Business classes to teach three English classes. Mr. Palmer, took over Ms. Coleman's Business classes. Ms. Lindsey is now teaching an English I class, and Mr. Richardson is also teaching English I.

Future teachers being taught

By Gregory Gunner

Starting in high school practicing leadership, responsibility, sportsmanship and organization, the Future Teachers of America get first hand experience on what the life of a teacher is all about.

Headed by president Greg Gunner and sponsor Mary Lindsay many different activities were planned. During the Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays FTA members donated several boxes of goods to the needy. Also during the year treats for the teachers were placed in the lounge.

The officers attend a workshop in Kounze and a district meeting where Genia Antione, Junior FTA member, was elected as District V, Vice President.

The high point of the year was the state convention held in Austin, Texas. Twelve students attended the two day seminar in unison to elect new state officers.

The district banquet was held in Beaumont on the Belle of Beaumont. Newly elected district officers were installed.

Protect nature

Paper drive time

Though there was a low turnout in students participating in the Ecology Club this year, they managed to continue their battle against pollution.

The Ecology Club is an anti-pollution organization in which the members hold monthly paper drives and other campaigns against pollution. At the paper drives, newspapers, bags, and cardboard boxes are collected to be recycled. With the money earned from the drives, the club pays to have trees planted. Money is also sent to such places as the Big Thicket.

Though the club only consists of seven members, sponsor Thomas Gothia feels that people still care about the environment.

"I am pleased that there are still some students with a social conscience and a sense of service. Few seem to care enough to give their support."

Look to the stars

By Walt Postula

One day after school a student asked Mr. Tolar if he would like to be the sponsor for the Astronomy club. Mr. Tolar said that he would like to and never saw the student again. Thus began the Astronomy club.

Twice a month, usually Tuesday, from 7:30-8:30, the members meet to look through telescopes to see the various stars and planets. Also, at each meeting a student gives a talk on some aspect of astronomy. Membership in the club varies from meeting to meeting.

"We usually have about eight regular members," said Mr. Tolar, "on some nights we have as many as twenty however."

Mr. Tolar has been interested in astronomy since he was a teenager. He enjoys the club but hopes that more members join.

"Membership was better in the past and I hope that membership will pick up again," he said.

Guys and Dolls create sensation

by Teishya Brooks

This year the Drama department took a new twist. Mr. Matt Carlin, the new Theatre Arts director, started off the year with tryouts and rehearsals for the musical which was presented in November instead of the traditional February performance. Carlin who last taught at Woodrow Wilson, had to adapt to the TJ format, but once he got started, he worked skillfully with the drama students in order to continue their learning experience.

Dal James, senior, remarked that he thought Mr. Carlin had a different way of teaching, but he was teaching students different aspects of the theatre that was very valuable. Dal, along with many other drama students, attended contests and workshops throughout the year as well as participated in the musical which was the main event. Teaming up with David Kloes, the choir director, Mr. Carlin along with choreographer Laura Roth, proceeded to present a very enjoyable production of the 1940's musical, Guys and Dolls. With a cast of sixty, the drama and choir departments put in two months of hard labor to put on a first rate show.

The Drama students not only used their talents for the musical, they competed locally as well as in state competitions. Always returning home with a numerous amount of awards for their outstanding deeds.

Mr. Carlin led a fine troop through many activities and events all through the year. There were many good times which provided the students with priceless experiences.

The German Club has been active for the first time in many years. Under the supervision of sponsor, Mary Casey, the club undertook a variety of activities.

The year began with the election of officers. Kevin Dunn was elected president, Christine Williamson, vice-president, and Tim Hargis, secretary. The meetings were held on Tuesday mornings before school. Meetings were spent discussing the activities planned.

The club members bought t-shirts saying "Es ist alles Deutsch mir," meaning "It's all German to me." A courtyard sign was also made. The German Club met at noon on Saturdays to complete the sign for football season.

The club members attended a Walkfest on the Alabama-Coushatta Indian Reservation during October. The idea of Walkfests, or Volksmarches originated in Germany, and was brought back by American military personnel stationed overseas. It is a walk of 10 to 20 kilometers in the woods or other natural or historic surroundings. At the end of the walk a medal or a stamp is awarded for those who finished.

At Christmas the club members wished the faculty a "Frohliche Weinachten" by serving snacks after school in the front office. It consisted of German sausage, cheeses, crackers, cookies and punch. Hand-calligraphied Christmas cards and homemade cookies were put in teachers boxes.

In the evening the German club went caroling around the Nederland community, and sang in German. Afterward they dined at Case Ole, for lack of a more appropriate restaurant.

In February members of the German Club traveled to Washington, Louisiana for another Walkfest and visited the old Georgian mansions along the river.

Later in the year several members traveled to Fredricksberg on an unofficial school trip. It was an excellent opportunity to taste German culture in our own backyard. Later in the year they traveled to Galveston to enjoy the beaches and surfing.

Overall the year was great fun and a lot was accomplished. "I feel that this year's club set a precedent for future TJ language clubs to follow. The underclassmen are already making plans for next year," concluded vice-president, Christine

by Erik Postula

Back in early November, several students willingly, and some unwillingly took a test to see if they could become Ebbtide editors. After much deliberation by Ms. Smith and returning editors, three senior editors and four junior editors were added to the staff.

The "old editors," Head Editor Jennifer Schaudies, Becky Shockley, and Art Editor Darrin LeBlanc, first had to run the "rookies," seniors Alan Hawthorne, Erik Postula, Brad Mayfield and juniors Joy Swanzy, Elisa Fontenot, Michelle Judice and Lawrence Brown through all of the "fun" stuff Ebbtide editors do.

Entries started coming in Mid-January and we started staying after school until 4 pm editing material on the basis of: one for excellent material, two for all right material, and three for material that isn't good enough to make it in the magazine.

To relieve the monotony of continual reading, an impromptu comedy team developed, The Pipeline, as it is affectionately called, consisting of Brad, Alan, and Erik provided comedy relief and kept the other editors loose.

After meeting the first deadline some of the "rookie" editors thought the year was over. Then we heard the horror stories from the seasoned editors about paste up. It wasn't bad at first, but the time our last deadline approached us, we despised anything that had to deal with room 101 and paste up.

Sponsor Ms. Smith, with her g shoves, was a great help in he everything run as smoothly as it c be expected. Her lollipops and E candy helped pull us together.

We honored our effort with a di at Rockford's after the publica came out. We all had a good t reminiscing for all the fun times had, the comments that the Pip came up with, and finally how we all stupid enough to become Eb editors.

This year's publication was a success in our opinion. We had or few minor mistakes in the maga and overall it represented the work we put into making Ebbtide big success.

2 bits, 4 bits, 6 bits, a dollar

by Cheryl Arnaud

Seven seniors and one junior make up the varsity cheerleading squad. These girls are elected in the spring of the school year, and immediately start preparing for camp and the next year.

Practice starts the second week of summer vacation. We practice everyday from eight to ten. Nevertheless, somedays we found ourselves spending up to four hours extra trying to perfect our techniques.

The main goal during practice is to prepare for camp. We attended camp at Sam Houston State University in Huntsville. While there we received four superior ribbons, one excellent, a "Super Squad" ribbon and three spirit sticks. We also performed a dance at the Camp Talent Show. We even managed to be interviewed for the Huntsville evening news.

Camp is a lot of fun but it is constant work. Each day begins at 6:00 a.m. The first morning class is at 7:45 a.m. until noon. During this time cheers and chants are taught. After lunch, is workshop, where we prepare for evaluation at night. Evaluation is where you are judged on what you learned that day. "It was great to receive a blue ribbon after a long day of arguing, practicing, and being in the miserable heat," said senior Amy McDonald.

All of the classes are held outdoors in the heat. At one time the temperature reached 101 degrees.

At night is when the fun starts. After everyone showers, a sudden burst of energy is found. We would stay up laughing and joking. Then it would be impossible for us to get up the next day. The six days at Camp were a definite experience.

There are good and bad points in cheerleading. Sometimes we found ourselves not speaking to each other and we all got on each other's nerves. Nevertheless we do have very touching moments, like when we realize that it is the end of the season and there will not be any more football or basketball games. Gina added, "Being head was hard at camp, at times I know they would get mad at me but, that's part of being head."

Also at times we felt as if we were useless at games and pep rallies. We could never get the crowd involved, but there is one game that will probably remain in all our memories, the PN-G game. At this game the fans went wild, they cheered along with us the entire time. It gave all of us such a feeling of accomplishment and satisfaction. Kim commented, "Chills ran up my spine, it was so exciting."

There are good and bad points in cheering, but in the end the good definitely outweighed the bad.

JV and Frosh Cheerleaders

by Cheryl Arraud

The Freshman Cheerleaders are chosen each year at the beginning of school. This is a disadvantage to them because they only have about two weeks to make uniforms, practice and get things together. Nevertheless, the girls managed and cheered the boys along. Gretchen Vaughen said, "I never thought we would get organized but we did."

The squad attended a one-day cheerleading clinic at Lamar University where they received an excellent rating. Selina Sellers concluded by saying. "Cheerleading at high school is a lot of fun, and I have enjoyed it with all of the girls."

Junior Varsity

Unlike the other years the JV cheerleaders were elected at the end of the school year. Therefore this gave the squad the opportunity to attend camp, practice, and prepare for the upcoming game season.

At camp the cheerleaders received superior ribbons every night and one spirit stick.

Tami Romero, sophomore, commented, "This year has been a lot of fun, I am so glad we were picked at the end of the year so that we could go to camp." Kelly Moore, sophomore added, "The only thing I can say is I have had a blast, and I think everyone else has too."

Texans . . .

. . . no place but T.J

by: Cheryl Arnaud

For many years the Texans have been a forgotten organization. They are the loyal carriers of Big Buzz.

Texans are picked first by filling out an application. Then Mr. Worthy, the boys sponsor, looks at the applications to see if this person is Texan material. He considers all viewpoints and decides on them himself.

"Mr. Worthy contributes alot," reported Robert Hicks, "He helps us with everything we do."

If it weren't for the Texans we would not have anyone to carry Big Buzz. They not only carry Big Buzz but they also put up spirit posters, run throughs and help the cheerleaders with cheers.

"Our biggest task is putting up posters," says Senior Curt Chatelain.

If you don't know who the Texans are, you can look for them on Fridays in maroon or gold shirts with a black cowboy hat and cowboy boots.

This year's Texans are Captain Tommy Vanderwerker, Donald Jones, Curt Chatlain, James Chisholm, Robert Hicks, and Murphy Kidder. These boys have done an excellent job carrying on a Jacket Tradition. It will be hard to replace them.

Annual Staff

Hangs it out

by Donna Domingue

After our summer workshop was cancelled due to "lack of funds" the 83-84 annual staff was at odds. We were hoping to attend the conference to decide on a theme, get good lay-outs and make sure our annual fit all the necessary requirements, but unfortunately we were left to use the skills we had acquired during our Junior year in J.I. Yes, Mrs. Moore had a huge job ahead of her.

After all the jobs were awarded, (only a few arms were twisted) we had to think of a theme. Our first choice was, "It's High Time," unfortunately that idea was black-balled by a being greater than ours, so it was back to the drawing board.

We finally decided we liked the idea "Hang'n In." We were the class that either hung out at the pier, library, or drag so it seemed to fit perfectly.

After months of my constant gripping, Kim Howell's whining and all our foul-ups, bleeps and blunders, we actually got down to business and hoped our annual would be able to "hang" with the others. We were sure it would!

Award winning year

Pilot takes rave reviews

by Becky Shockley

It was a year of rave reviews and drastic changes for The Pilot. With changes starting in early August, the newspaper had a new look, a new style and a new staff by the time the first issue came out.

The most noteable changes were in the layout. Editor in Chief, Becky Shockley and Sponsor Ms. Sonya Moore decided to change the layout to a traditional upright new style paper instead of the previous magazine style format. Changes in the type and in the general style techniques gave The Pilot a newer modernized look.

Regular features and items included a community calendar of events, a student Sound Off, asking a number of students pertinent questions on topics effecting them. The political cartoon was another popular regular, drawn by Senior Darrin LeBlanc.

This year's staff was filled with helping hands. Serving as News Editor was Erik Postula, Erik also served as acting editor in the absence of Becky and helped a great deal with the sports section.

Serving as Features Editors were Stacy DuBose and Christine Williamson. Entertainment Editor was John Coley, who was also responsible for other stories on the OpEd page.

The reporting this year was handled by several talented writers. Juniors Joy Swanzy and Jake Smith assisted a great deal, as did Jimmie Nixdorf, David Gough, Kim Howell, Trudy Derouen, and Greg Gunner. Also helping on the reporting staff were Amie Naughton, Donna Domingue, Jennifer Schaudies, Kelli Ferret, Abe Munoz, John Thomas and Clif Charles.

This year's photography was headed by Assignment Editor Paul McIntyr and Darkroom Technician Paul Silva Also serving as Pilot photographer were Wayne David, James Chisholm Becky Shockley, John Thomas, an Robert Hicks. Advertisements wer headed by Cheryl Arnaud and Kelli Fe rett, while Donna Paul and Nanc Hayes both assisted as staff typis Donna also served as Exchange Editor

Rave reviews weren't confined t just those throughout the District. A the American Scholastic Press Associa tion contest, The Pilot ranked a secon place, just 30 points shy of first plac standing. This narrow margin, in range of 1000 points, put the Pilo among some of the top papers judge The paper also received an outstandin review from the Interscholastic Leagu Press Conference.

Teaching demands excellence, dedication

After 37 years of dedication to PAISD, Mathematics Department Head Laverne McMillan is leaving Thomas Jefferson at the end of this year. Before arriving in 1963 as department head, she taught at Woodrow Wilson Junior High. Through the years she has taught all the math courses offered on the secondary level, reaching students in all phases of study.

Her contributions to PAISD are numerous. She was the fundamental force behind several new programs, researched and wrote proposals for such innovations as the accelerated math program for college preparatory students, the math lab for non-college prep students, the AP Calculus program and the computer math program. Other accomplishments include a superior curricula, and Jefferson's outstanding reputation for math excellence.

After only being in America for nine years, Van tied for Valedictorian. Excelling in math and sciences, she plans to start her college career at Lamar before making her way to Medical school.

Scoring an extra point — meeting the G.R.A.

by David Gough

In this day and age, it is bad enough we students have to go to school and then go home with loads of homework. However, for a student-athlete, this is an extra burden. An athlete must work just a little bit harder to maintain his grade point average.

Since sports is considered an extra curricular activity, most of them are after school. This means that a student athlete doesn't have much free time.

"After going to school for seven hours, then practicing football for three more, I barely have time to eat, much less do my homework after I get home." stated Sophomore Neal DuBois.

Sometimes, what is necessary, is for the student-athlete to either wake up early in the morning or stay up late at night to do homework. Or, if everything else fails, find a tutor.

One football player stated, "After practice, I come home and study with my older brother. It really works out great," stated Jeff Mills.

"I have always had good relationships with all of my teachers and felt I can always talk to them and ask for help. They understand my problems!" replied Senior basketballer Edward Watson Jr.

One thing is for sure though, student-athletes must study just like any other student. And certainly must be aware of his grade point average.

Working harder and spending a little extra time on his or her studies so he can remain eligible for every game of the season are the goals of an exceptional athlete.

Backbones of the team!

by Gregory Gunner

Behind every prosperous man there is a strong woman. Behind every successful football team there's — Trainers and Managers?

Managers and trainers are a big part of a football team. They do all the work behind the scene. You won't see managers or trainers being interviewed by sportswriters or even being scouted.

Trainers are in charge of taking care of all injured players. This means scheduling treatments, whirlpools and workouts. The trainers arrive early and leave late. "We are the last ones to leave in the afternoons. After games we have to put up all the equipment, that means we don't leave until 11:00-12:00 pm." stated Ronald Ross, senior trainer. Trainers are in charge of wrapping nearly 10 players per day and almost 15 players a game. This alone takes about 1½ hours.

The trainers must know how to deal with the different kinds of injuries the players encounter. Trainer Chad Mills stated, "Many people don't realize the time and effort we give to the team. Also, it's a good way to learn about the body because you work with the body every day.

Managers play a more mechanical part of the team. They see that all players have the necessary equipment and everything needed for practice is on the practice field. They also assist the coaches with statistics. Managers feel that they are just as important as the actual players and should be treated as such. The managers never fail to perform their duties. Ross said, "I'm dedicated because I feel as though I'm a member of the team."

Trainers and managers do have something to look forward to. "If a trainer shows the ability and determination to be on a college staff I recommend them to a college for a scholarship." commented Coach Hawkins, head trainer. But their fight to be recognized isn't over yet. Major colleges receive over 300 applications.

There's always a trainer or manager before everyone else gets there, or hours after everyone has left. They're always around, sometimes we just forget they're there.

Working on a dynasty

by John Thomas

One of the great summer pastimes has now been turned into a competitive sport, volleyball. It is now played all across the country in back yards, on beaches, and in schools everywhere.

The 1983-1984 Junior Varsity (JV) Lady Jackets have turned out a year that they can use for experience for future years. They were led by the outstanding coaching of Miss Rosetta Wilson. "This is my youngest bunch of girls I have ever coached, but they are the most talented," says Miss Wilson. In the past TJ has been producing great volleyball teams and this year was no different. The volleyball team went 11-10 this year.

"Next year I wouldn't be surprised if they were very competitive against the teams they lost to," Coach Wilson commented.

The JV team consisted of four freshmen and two sophomores. The fact that the team had no juniors had no major effect on how well they played. Miss Wilson said, "We didn't do well in the first half of the season, but we came back and beat most of the teams we lost to in the first half." Of these victories was one against Port Neches-Groves Rockanoos. In the past years there's been a rivalry between TJ and PNG. The rivalry continues, PNG and TJ broke even this round of playing with each winning one match.

"Next year we should do pretty good. Because the hard part has past, that is getting to know how everybody else plays and how they move on the court," Tonya Allen says.

The JV is not rated by district, "But that's not the important for the girls to learn to control the ball and to learn the basics," Coach Wilson says. "I think that with a little more practice that we will do very well next year," says Donella Carter. The JV look more than ready for the next year. The talent is building and the emotion to withhold the Lady Jacket tradition of winning will forever go on.

Being at the top

by Gregory Gunner

Jackie LaDay is one of the most talented girl athletes at TJ. Jackie's accomplishments and leadership speaks for themselves.

Jackie played three years of Varsity volleyball and two years as captain. "I like the competition in sports, especially volleyball," remarked Jackie. "When playing good teams it forces me to use my ability to the fullest."

Jackie LaDay is a member of the National Honor Society. She also played Varsity Basketball for two years. Her future plans are to play Volleyball in college and major in physical therapy.

The 1983 districts' most valuable player will have no problems with athletes on the college level.

Threat of the net

by Gregory Gunner

Dawna Weber was known as the threat at the net. Her exceptional hitting and blocking through the season earned her a spot on the All-District Volleyball team.

Dawna played varsity basketball for two years. "It's like a family atmosphere playing on the team." explained Dawna. Dawna thinks highly of her teammates and tries to help them off the field, whenever possible.

Dawna likes to play the piano and read poetry; she hopes to play basketball at a Texas college. "My years at Thomas Jefferson have been the most educational and fulfilling years in my life, I wouldn't trade them for anything. The experience I've had here will enable me to succeed in anything I decide to do."

Challenge of a lifetime

by Clif Charles

Every once in a while a special athlete comes along with unlimited power to play a sport with determination.

Leslie Moore's volleyball season was filled with incredible plays that made her one of the most exciting players on the team.

"She was our inspiration through the whole season," stated Coach Bertha Hebert.

Leslie is the kind of player that would make plays that did not seem possible. Leslie played two years on J.V. before starting on the varsity squad. "I like the challenge of playing volleyball. My whole volleyball career was full of challenges and decisions. At times I got tired but always decided to continue," says Leslie. Leslie's plans after graduation are to play sports in college and to major in physical education. Leslie wants to expand her athletic ability even farther in college.

"The years at T.J. have been great. The teachers and the coaches have fulfilled my needs for the future intensity."

Moving on up

by Clif Charles

She is thought of as a miracle among her teammates. Deborah Voorhies went from manager last year to a starter this year.

"I did pretty well for the first year of playing volleyball." Deborah can give credit to Coach Hebert for her amazing progress.

"Coach Hebert had a lot of patience with me," Deborah explained, "She's a great coach."

Along with her volleyball participation Deborah plays varsity basketball and is a member of the FTA. Deborah is looking toward computers as a career.

Deborah Voorhies is a player with the natural ability to adapt to anything she puts her mind to. "Playing for a team with the tradition of Thomas Jefferson was kind of hard to think of, but after the coaches and players worked with me I became a player to be respected."

The quest is on . . .

By Clifton Charles and Greg Gunner

The Lady Jackets volleyball team started their quest state title in fine shion, defeating Aldine acArthur, the District -5A Champs on perfect eds by setter Donna rkless and Shauniqua omas. Jackie LaDay ntinued her domination the playoffs with 12 ser- e points and four kes. Weber contributed six points with her powerful serves. LaSonya Broussard and Leslie Moore also provided excellent backcourt defense.

TJ jumped out to a 9-0 lead in the first set, 15-9. MacArthur took a 6-1 lead in the second game but LaDay sparked a 10-1 run to secure the victory and to remain in contention for the state championship.

"This is one of our better efforts all year," said Coach Bertha Hebert. "The girls worked hard preparing for the playoffs. I think you could tell the extra effort paid off." The Lady Jackets will now have to face one of the best teams in the state, unbeaten Clear Lake.

The time had come. This was the game that the Lady Jackets had been waiting for all year, a chance to avenge last year's playoff loss to Clear Lake. Unfortunately, history repeated itself at TJ lost in tight play, 15-6, 6-15, 8-15.

With precise serving by Shauniqua Thomas (11 for the match) and LaDay (10 serves two spikes), the Lady Jackets put up a resistance, but finally fell victim as they fell behind 14-4 in the second game.

Endurance, energy needed for cross country

By Clifton Ch
John Th

Track season in September? That's what you might think if you saw the cross country getting ready for another rigorous year.

"To run cross country you have to be prepared physically and mentally, you need to have a special quality to drive yourself." stated Coach Hebert. To prepare for a grueling cross country meet the team goes through practices of hill runs, sand runs and weight workouts. This training prepares the runners for races over hills, trenches and rough terrain.

Coach Margaret Gamble and the girls cross country team finished the season third in the district. This itself was a great accomplishment competing in the strong 22-5A district this year. After a rather slow start the Lady Jackets came back impressively. While attaining this district mark the Lady Jackets won the championship in the East Chambers Invitational. They also placed second in the Tyrell Park and LC-M meets. Along with these fine performances they placed a respectable fourth in the Golden Triangle and Clearlake Invitationals.

"I think we had a reall good cross country season, I enjoyed working with such outstanding athletes" Coach Gamble replied about her fine group of athletes.

The JV Ladyjackets were the most successful team this year, winning the district championship. The team was surprisingly led by freshman Betty Johnson and Carlise Charlot. "The Freshmen are showing a lot of potential," says Coach Gamble, "they should be great runners in the future." This championship team also includes Sheori Sinegal, Jedda Gray, Ann Alexander, Rita Milo, and Betty Johnson.

Coach David Hill and his young cross country team finished the year 6th in district. "I use cross country to improve endurance thus improving speed to prepare my runners for track season." remarked Coach Hill. The team con sists of Jeffery Barton, John Hollingsworth, Michael Carter, Shawn Allan, Roosevelt Johnson, and Alan McNeal.

This young cross cou team was led by senior s Jeffery Barton and John lingsworth. By watching th tracksters in acti underclassmen learned great value of mental discip to break the fatigue barrier a treacherous three mile rac

For Coach Hill this wa season of rebuilding with m underclassmen. TJ is know a sprinter school but they were competitive through whole season. Coach remarks "We had a yo team this year but I'm look forward to the future prog of my athletes."

Sharpe, TJ, Best Year ever

By Abraham Munoz

The season started out as just any other highly competitive year for the Yellow Jackets. With the confidence of Coach Jack Commings and the incredible play of the brother duo Billy and Bobby Sharpe TJ dominated all other opponents to finish the best golf season ever at Thomas Jefferson.

"I expected the boys team would do well but not as well as they did," Mr. Commings said. The TJ Lingsters easily won the district title. With a 627 two-day team total the Yellow Jackets placed first in the district tournament to advance into regional play. Leading the way in district action was freshman Billy Sharpe with a 153 tournament total and Sophomore Bobby Sharpe shooting 154 respectively.

TJ continued their stellar performance in regionals finishing first in Chambers County to qualify for the class 5A state golf tournament. The Jackets' 614 score was at tributed to the fine performance of freshman phenomenon Billy Sharpe. His 144 regional total was the team's best.

Coach Commings was very confident going into the state finals but inexperience in state competition cost TJ their state title hopes. TJ gave it a valiant effort but their 654 was only good enough for seventh in their first ever state tournament appearance.

"We got a lot of bad breaks, bad lies but the pressure was the hardest thing to cope with," said senior golfer Joe Allen. Freshman Billy Sharpe and sophomore Lee Comeaux each posted a 157. Sophomore Bobby Sharpe stroked a 164. Seniors Joe Allen shot a 176 and Phil Fouts a 181. "We were naturally disappointed that we didn't win state this year but I expect we will be back next year and will do much better," Coach Commings said. "The kids had a good season and we can grow from that point."

Young team places fourth

by David Gough

At the beginning of the 1983-84 basketball season, the Yellow Jackets were only expected to be a mediocre team at best. There were only three lettermen returning: 6'4" Junior Steve Thompson; 6'5" senior Chris Smith; and 6'4" senior Lee Johnson.

However, the team had great unity and leadership and ended with an overall record of 17 wins and 11 losses, and a district record of 9-5. It was good enough for fourth place in the final standings, the best finish ever for a Willie Williams' coached team.

This turned out a disappointment, however, as the Jackets were leading the District at 4-0 before hitting a mid-season slump and allowing French and West Brook to advance to the playoffs.

Inconsistent play, injuries, and mistakes make the difference in gaining a playoff spot. Bright spots all year long were Thompson, who made first team All-District while leading the District in scoring with a 19.0 average, Senior point guard Ed Watson and Senior postman Jerome Russell, both honorable mentions All-District.

Other support came from Seniors Harold Mouton and A.J. Martin, while Johnson and Smith provided great leadership all year long. The 83-84 Jackets gave it their all and ended up having a great season, the best one in six years.

Down in the history books as #1

By Greg Gunner and Clifton Charles

With a 33-4 overall and a 13-1 district record, their first 22-5A District title and their first ever playoff appearance the Lady Jackets completed their most successful season in the history of girls basketball at Thomas Jefferson.

Coach Mark Honea stated before the playoffs, "If we execute and play to the best of our ability, we will be successful." His comment was correct as the Lady Jackets advanced as far as the regionals before losing to Houston Yates in an emotional confrontation.

In their post-season debut TJ stunned Houston Smiley, grabbing a 24 point lead. A letdown near the end of the third quarter enabled Smiley to stay within striking distance. In the final minute of play Leslie Moore and Yolanda Lewis each missed the first half of one-and-one free throws opportunities. This opened the door for Yates, enabling them to tie 71-71 at the end of regulation play.

Houston Yates took control in the over time to beat TJ 84-71. Yvette Mitchell led the way with 12 points and an amazing 21 rebounds. Dawna Weber finished with 12 points and Jackie LeDay with 11 in a losing cause.

Senior Yvette Mitchell stated "This season was great, we worked very hard in practice and it paid off."

The Lady Jackets totally dominated defending state champions Houston Yates for three quarters but vital turnovers to an intense backcourt press costed TJ the lead and finally the game to Houston 84-71 in overtime.

In the first minute of the fourth quarter the Jacket cagers pushed to its biggest lead 57-41 before Yates' pressure began to take its toll. Key baskets down the stretch by Yvette Mitchell clinched their first playoff match 82-67.

Yvette Mitchell led all scorers with a career-high of 42 points. Senior Dawna Weber contributed 18 points and 12 rebounds.

The Lady Jackets' triumph over Pearland was their greatest victory of the season. "Pearland has a program of statewide recognition," Coach Honea remarked about the multitalented ball club. TJ went into the final moments without their dominating center Dawna Weber and premier guard Trena Jones, but they still pulled out the victory 64 to 63 in overtime.

Despite our final game. We were playing the officials not Houston Yates. I think if we would have had fair officials we would have went to Austin."

During the seven years of girls basketball at Thomas Jefferson this was the first year the Lady Jackets proved they were superior.

Freshmen keeping strong

by Clif Charles

When JV coach Rosetta Wilson began practices with her predominately freshman team, she commented, "The main goal for us this season is to teach the fundamentals of the game and the winning attitude to play for TJ in the future." They did that and more as the young JV team won the district championship convincingly.

The JV cagers finished their season with a 20-5 overall and 13-0 district record. "They did a real good job considering the youth on the team," remarked Wilson.

The young Jackets played in JV action with as many as four freshman on the floor at a time all season. The team consists of seven freshmen and four sophomores. "They were young and inexperienced but they had alot of talent," stated Wilson. "They did a tremendous job and probably improved more than any team I've ever coached."

In years to come underclassmen will be a big factor in the future of the Lady Jackets. This is due to the reconstruction and surprising sccess of the organization.

The flaw in the rebuilding process showed in freshmen play. "We had a good group of freshmen girls." Because of the building program the best freshmen didn't play on the freshmen team this year," stated Coach Van Wright. They finished the season with a 3-12 district and 3-16 overall record. If Coach Van Wright would have had a reasonable amount of Freshmen talent that played on JV, they would have been force to contend with i their respected division.

Coach Van Wright saic "The future looks promis ing, it was a rough seaso for our freshmen team bu the experience will help u in the future."

Tracksters take second

The 1984 edition of the Thomas Jefferson Yellow Jacket Boys' Track Team, under the direction of Coach David Hill, had a hard act to follow, since last year's squad captured the District Championship. However the Jackets did a fine job all year and finished in second place, 27 points behind the champions, the West Brook Bruins.

In the field events, Alvin Thomas, a senior, won the long jump title with a leap of 22'5". Other outstanding performers all year long were Senior High Jumper John Hollingsworth, and Senior Shot Putter Alonzo Payne.

In the running events, the Jackets' specialty, Bennie Bess, a senior, won both the 100 and 200 meter dashes, while sophomore Anthony Smith finished second the 200 meter dash. Furthermore, Senior Henry Allen claimed a first place ribbon in the 400 meter dash, while Senior 100-meter High hurdler Darryl Hamilton also won a first place. In addition, the 400-meter relay team of Allen, Bess, Junior LaJuan Cole, and Smith took first place, as did the 1600 meter relay team of Allen, Senior Bryan Nash, Junior Greg Bobb, and Senior Carl Hilstock. Another running man, Junior Dennis Fontenot contributed much all year long.

Overall, the Jackets' performance was outstanding and should be commended on their hard work and determination that brought pride and dignity to our city.

Coaches' Dedication — Giving It Their ALL!

by Greg Gunner

Most coaches like coaching ecause they're working with kids nd around a sport they love. But here's more to coaching then mply coaching.

Coaches are put in a difficult tuation when they choose to ecome a coach. The reason why oaches work so many extra hours because, "in our community a ss than successful athletic pro- ram 'especially in football' will sually result in the gradual smissal or firing of the head oach."

This results in a loss of job ecurity for the other coaches on aff, stated one coach who prefer- d not to be named.

Coaches have a hard job hether people realize it or not. A coach's dedication to a sport comes year around.

They contribute an average of 40 hours a week in addition to their regular hours.

Coaches receive what is called Coaches Incretment. Coaches are paid an increase other than normal wages. But this increase does not come close to the time given by these coaches. Coach R. Wilson stated she continues to coach, "Because I like coaching. Coaching is fun to me, not work."

Like any other workers coaches will do anything to keep their jobs.

Coaches can account for some of the long hours with the feeling that they helped get a kid started in life. Coach Dow Wynn said, " I have to believe that coaches represent the last faction of defense against the decline of discipline in the schools. With drugs, outside forces and pressures attacking the individual student I feel that the coach is the only figure that they helped get a kid started in the school. I feel that the coach figure that most students still respect is deteriorating. Also if I can do anything that will help the individual cope with these pressures and make the right decisions then I feel I've helped."

These feelings are felt throughout the coaching staff. Coaches hope to provide physical fitness, competitive spirit, cooperation with others, teamwork and dedication to all students in their athletic program.

Everything seems to ironically fall into place on the operation of a coaching staff. The coaches love working with young athletes while at the same time keeping a well-liked job.

Year used to Reorganize

by Clif Charles

This was definitely a rebuilding season for the Yellow Jackets baseball organization. Coach Emrick Jagneaux lost some of the most talented players in Texas to graduation including pitcher Xavier Hernandez, selected 1983 state baseball player of the year.

Before the season Coach Jagneaux stated, "We lost a lot of our championship team to graduation but we'll still be in the district race." Unfortunately, his prediction didn't come true as TJ fell to the bottom of the district race after a promising start.

The Yellow Jackets were in high gear as they took an early lead in the district race with a 2-0 record. The upset over highly talented West Orange.

Stark was the most impressive district win of the season. Freshman Gabriel Hernandez and Sophomore John Wilkerson teamed up for TJ's strongest mound outing to defeat WO-Stark 8-2. From that game it was all downhill for TJ; winning only one of their last fourteen games to finish seventh in district. TJ ended the season with a (12-14) record overall and a (3-11) district record. These statistics don't show the excellent individual performances, however.

Chad Wyble was a major factor to what little success TJ had, starting as many as four positions while being among the team leaders in batting. Seniors Wyble, and Guy Burnaman were the inspirational leaders, keeping the fighting tradition of the Yellow Jacket pride alive.

Returning to Coach Jagnaeux's ranks next year is the hitting trio of Juniors Mike Bushnell, Trace Hammond and Sophomore Richard Guidry. Their talent at the plate challenged all opponents to stay competitive in victory or defeat.

Freshman Gabriel Hernandez did a magnificant job pitching, despite a (4-4) record.

This was a very disappointing season for TJ record wise but the pride of the Yellow Jackets is never lost.

Varsity, promising next year

By David Gough

The 1984 edition of the junior varsity baseball team finished their season with 11 wins and nine losses, and a district record of (3-4). However, two of their wins in district came against West Brook and French, the top two teams.

Under the direction of Head Coach Norman Gaspard, the Jacket's leading hitters for the season were Sophomore leftfielder Trini Garcia, junior designated hitter Rahn Perron, and Sophomore catcher Neal DuBois.

The pitching corps, which, if stronger, would have made for a better season, were led by Junior Paul DeLuna with a record of (6-4). Other pitchers were Kenny Livingston, (3-3), a Freshman, Sophomore John Wilkerson, (2-0), a late addition moved down from Varsity, and Junior Rahn Perron (0-2).

"Considering our team was made up of mostly Freshmen and Sophomores and we didn't have much leadership, I was pleased with our season," Coach Gaspard commented.

He also added, "They were a hard working bunch of good guys who will help Coach Jagneaux next year on the Varsity. With a little luck, we could have been the District champs. But I still was satisfied."

Academic Programs

2+2=4 year degree

Students may begin a 4-year degree on Port Arthur campus. Today, Lamar University of Port Arthur provides the beginning student with the first two years of a university education close to home and close to work.

Students attending the Port Arthur campus have available the same courses which are offered by the entire Lamar University three campus organization in the principal areas of business, education, engineering, liberal arts, sciences, fine and applied arts, and physical education. These courses provide the basis for most four-year degrees.

Technical Arts Program

Over the years Lamar University at Port Arthur Technical Arts Division has provided technical and industrial education for thousands of men and women from Texas, Louisiana, other states and several foreign countries. Upon completion of a required program of study in the technical division, a student may receive a two-year associate of applied science degree, a one-year diploma or certificate of completion.

Technical Arts programs include Automotive Mechanics, Automotive Body Repair, Business Data Processing, Cosmetology, Electronics Technology, Mid-Management, Office Occupations, Word Processing, Real Estate, Welding, and Licensed Vocational Nursing.
